ABSTRACT

[0031] A large bale handler is provided for transporting more than one large bale at a time. The bale handler includes tines that support the weight of at least two large bales. The tines extend along a length that is longer than one bale and supports the bales in tandem. Thus, two bales are loaded on the bale handler one behind the other.